

2025 NATIONAL ALCOHOL REGULATION SENTIMENT SURVEY

Biennially, the Center commissions a national survey on public opinion surrounding state alcohol regulations. The 2025 results again show that the long-standing alcohol regulatory system in the United States works and people like it; that Americans believe their states have struck the right balance in alcohol policy; and that Americans want alcohol laws to prioritize health and safety.

Support individual states setting their own alcohol sales laws

Satisfied with existing system for purchasing alcohol in their state

Believe loosening regulations will make problems worse
